Conclusion

Finally I conclude that in the digital era of the globalization and technological society there is a need of adoption of various new technological methods to combat Cyber Crimes, Financial Frauds and Modern Techniques of Human Trafficking and Various Crimes Committed by the People by using Technology and Diversified Mechanisms to violate The Human rights fundamental rights and legal rights, it is the need of the hour to aware the people more particularly students of the law colleges in the universities against the torture, arbitrary, deprivation of life, slavery, denial of transgender rights, refugee crises, caste and racial discrimination and so on forth. The rights of the children and women are frequently violated and the under privileged sections and other backward communities' rights are continuously violating by state and civil society. The role of clinical legal a and justice education in releasing human rights and fundamental rights has been a key factor. The Multi-Dimensional expanding horizons of human rights norms and principles requires clinical, legal and justice to explore means to ensure access to justice for all in national legal system adopting by the Universities particularly the department of Law. In this regard office of the Dean, Faculty of Law introduced the concept of justice on wheels to propagate and promote the Clinical, Legal and Justice Education to the needy people and the student's community by using the vehicles.
